Horizon Zero Dawn is a PlayStation 4 exclusive open world action RPG set in a post-post-apocalyptic world where Mother Nature has reclaimed Earth and terraforming machines have turned violent against humans.

To translate the game’s experience into a physical object, real plants have been used. The concept revolves around an enclosed self-sufficient ecosystem, placed inside a Shell Walker scale model (250 x 250 x 225 mm). Not only does this create an intriguing look, it also indicates that Horizon Zero Dawn’s machines are one with nature.

Furthermore, the product is fully interactive with Horizon Zero Dawn. With LEDs placed both inside its crate and eyes the Shell Walker can react to various in-game events. The Shell Walker Ecosystem only needs little maintenance and adds a touch of real nature inside the house of gamers.
